

Notice of Retraction

Dong-Kyun Im, Editor-in-Chief

The following manuscripts are retracted from the Journal of Asian Sociology:

Article A. Kim, H. (2019). Decolonization and the Ontological Turn of Sociology. Journal of Asian Sociology, 48(4), 443-454.

Article B. Park, S. H., & Jang, S. (2022). Analysis of Consumer Sentiment in Traditional Market Through Sentiment Information Analysis: Focusing on Seoul's Gwangjang Market. Journal of Asian Sociology, 51(1), 1-28.

Article A has been found to extensively plagiarize the following article: Savransky, M. (2017). "A decolonial imagination: Sociology, anthropology, and the politics of reality." Sociology, 51(1), 11-26.

Article B is an exact duplicate of the following paper written in Korean: Park, S.H. and K.H. Ryu. (2021). "A Study on the Attractive Factors of Traditional Markets Using the 'Sensibility Information Analysis Method': Focused on Gwangjang Market in Jongno-gu," Journal of the Korean Urban Management Association, 34(1): 59-77 (in Korean).

As the Editor-in-Chief, I express my deepest apologies to the original author whose work was plagiarized and the readers of the aforementioned papers for creating frustration and confusion. I deeply regret the oversight.

Our journal holds research ethics in the highest regard. To prevent similar problems in the future, we are going to use more meticulous and sophisticated methods to detect plagiarism during the review process. We will make every effort to ensure that these incidents do not happen again.
